Dear High School Counselors, Administrators and Teachers:

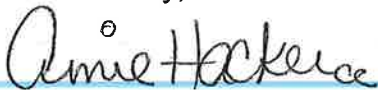

Spring is almost here and children's thoughts are probably turning toward summer vacation. The Kentucky Manufactured Housing Institute is looking ahead to the next academic year by announcing its KMHI Scholarship Awards. Three $1,000 scholarships will be awarded in 2015 to graduating high school seniors or GED recipients who currently reside in modular, manufactured, or mobile homes. These awards are available for university, college, technical, or vocational programs.

Teachers, school counselors, and administrators are encouraged to offer the enclosed application to deserving students who currently reside in a modular, manufactured, or mobile home. One application has been included; however, if you need more applications you can make a copy of an application or contact Carolyn Conway at KMHI by phone at 502-223-0490 in Frankfort or by email at cconway@kmhi.org. Completed applications must be post-marked no later than April 1, 2015.

Also included in this packet is a press release. You can publish this announcement in a newspaper or school newsletter. This will increase the awareness of the scholarship availability and increase the number of applicants.

The scholarship program is just one example of how KMHI and the factory-built housing industry is looking toward more progressive ways of increasing public awareness of the industry. If you have ideas about how we can improve this program and start others, please feel free to contact the KMHI at 502-223-0490.

Sincerely,

Amie Hacker, Chair
KMHI Education, Special Programs and Conference Committee

SCHOLARSHIP PROGRAM

AWARD: Three $1,000 scholarships to graduating seniors or GED recipients who live in modular, or manufactured homes in Kentucky.

This completed application must be accompanied by an original, type-written 300-word essay explaining the “impact of factory-built housing on your life,” and three letters of reference from business persons, clergy or community leaders. Only one of these may be from a school administrator or teacher. For further information, please contact Carolyn Conway, Director of Programs and Communications, KMHI Office, 2170 US 127 South, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601, (502) 223-0490. In order to be considered, the complete application, with essay and references, must be post-marked to KMHI by April 1, 2015.

Selection is based on the essay, participation in school and community, honors, recommendations and personal goals. Judges’ decision is final. The winner may attend a university, college, technical, or vocational school. Checks will be made payable to the school and student and must be endorsed by both. Alternates will be selected and move to first place should a winner be disqualified, receive a full scholarship from another source, or decide not to further his/her education. A tie will result in a call for personal interviews.
